Tax two entertainments given by Bargum's show in Decator, on yesterday, were witnessed by about 10,000 people The exhibitions were well worth seeing, and gave good estimation. There were many new features introduced which took well, and throughout there was a marked absence of anything of an objectionable nature. The show will exhibit in Danville to-day. Ar about 8 c'nlock on yesterday afternoon a burglar entered Alderman Brambla's residence on Comstery street, during the absence of the family, and stole a new suit of clothes belonging to Mr. Bramble and a pair of gold spectacles, the property of Mrs. Bramble. The robber made good his escape. Up to the present writing he has not been beard SAR old unoccupied dwelling house worth about $75, south of the Wabash

Grand Officers Installed. The annual session of the Grand Court of Illinois, (a side degree of Masonry) which bas been in progress here since Tuesday last, closed last night with s public installation of Grand Court officers at Guards' Armory Hall, in the presence of quite a large company of people mostly made up of the colored population. The fore part of the evening was passed in a social way, and the festival feature was liberally patronized. A welcome address was delivered by George 8. Yates, of Decatur, responded to by

W. T. Scott, of Caire; followed by an address by the Grand Ancient Matron, Mrs. C. M. Alexander, of Chicago, subjust, "Cast Upon the World," a very interesting theme which gained the fixed attention of the assembly. The exercises closed with a dissertation on the origin and principles of the order by Miss Agnes Moody, P. M. of Chicago. At 10 o'clock, as had been arranged, the installation took place. Deputy Grand Master James Hollinger, of Decatur, presenting the newly elected officers, to each of whom instructions were given by Mr. Scott, Past Grand Superintendent of the court. Radden Death.

Miss Clara Bailey, aged about 16 years, niece of Mrs. Moses Stafford, died in this city this morning at six o'clock, from congestion of the lungs. She came here from Belleville, and was a pupil at our echool up to Tuesday evening last, when she became ill. She remained at her hibited at fairs. sunt's home all day Wednesday and yesterday, but was not thought to be in a serious condition until last night, when she became weaker, and it was apparent that ske could not survive many hours ionger. The deceased was an unusually bright and intelligent girl, possessing s very lovable disposition, and had many fast friends among her schoolmates. Her mother is dead, but her father is in business at St. Louis. He was informed by of prize winners at the Royal and other telegraph on Wednesday of the illness of his daughter, and again this morning at 8 o'clock of her dangerous condition. Mrs. Stafford, who has been visiting relatives for several weeks at Minneapolis, Minn.; was also informed by telegraph of the condition of her niece. She is expected home on to-morrow afternoon. Mr. Balley has arrived in the city. The time and piace of funeral is at present unknown.

Close of the Convention.

The fourth annual convention of the Illinois State Christian Temperance Union Convention, which had been in session at the tabernacie since Tuesday forencon, closed last night with a temperance lovefeast, led by Col. Rowell. There was general speaking and good singing, and the crowd in attendance was large, considering that Barnum had about all the people in town under his mammoth tents. During the afternoon session considerable time was devoted to the mixed condition of the State Union's finances, and after much general discussion the vexed question was put in what is thought to be good shape, and by this time next year it is hoped that daylight will come. During the session of the convention contributions amounting to about $31 were made, and $88.75 were paid out yesterday for printing and to a speaker. A bill aggregating $181 was presented for payment, being the accumulated indebtedness, of the Union. Each male delegate present was taxed $5 to liquidate this debt-$45 were thus provided for. The secretary was instructed to issue a circular letter to each Union in the state not represented in the convention, assessing it $5.00. There were perhaps 70 delegates in the convention during the session.

The October Soldiers' Reunian.

As is announced by mammoth highly colored posters, and bills in this city, and also cities of this and adjoining states, the third annual reunion of the soldiers of the late war, will be held on the fair grounds near this city on October 6th and

7th. The committees having in charge the reunion of the 21st Ill. Vol. (General Grant's first regiment) and the Macon County Veteran Association, are busy and working with a will that promises big success in the accomodation of the crowd expected to be present. The committee on invitation have received letters of acceptance from many distinguished soldiers, who write that they will be present. As the reunion will extend over two days, there will be many friendly greetings, speeches, and hand shakes among the old comrades assembled. The encampment at the fair grounds is to be nicely fitted up with tents furnished by the government, and the camp with the natural beauty of the grounds, with its abundance of pure spring water, shaded and undulating grounds, will make an attractive place for sight-seers, and a pleasant tent home for the soldier boys to meet and enjoy the pleasure of a general "war time" chat, calling to mind the past dangers of field and flood, yearly growing ess a reality as the old soldiers die off and the war time babies grow in years.

The feeding, or "grub," as the veterans call it, will be furnished, in abundance, and will be under the management of a former U. S. quartermaster and commisa ry. There will not be a hungry vet on the grounds during the reunion. The 21st regiment anticipate a good time with

Gen. Grant, who has promised to be pres-that they fear their old colonel's time will be monopolized by the Decatur organizaand very naturally are anxious to know what arrangements will be made for the entertainment of the hero of the age. It is not the wish or intention of local or
