GOP-ers are sensitive to the overwhelming support given the Democratic Party by Negro Americans in the November election and are becoming increasingly aware of its political significance.

For example, the other day Ashby Carter, president of the National Alliance of Postal Employees was granted a conference with Mr. Eisenhower by Presidential brain-truster Senator Lodge, who found that a pre-election request by Carter for a conference with the General had gone unacknowledged although a similar request to Democratic candidate Stevenson was granted.

This reminds us that during the campaign at the farm town of Kasson, Eisenhower was asked how much of a farm parity subsidy he would be willing to guarantee. He asked what the Democrats were giving. When told a maximum of 90 percent parity he quickly announced that he'd be for 100 percent parity. Anything to better the Democrats, the Repubs always say-
