Providence Musical Over the Top

The Providence Choir musicale, which is given the third Sunday in every month, has, under the direction of Prof. J. Wesley Jones, become so famous until musicians and music lovers of both races from all parts of the city and suburban towns rush to get there. The program was an exceptional one Sunday. The big chorus choir sang Major Clark Smith's "Heart of Emancipation," which was one of the big hits of the day. Miss Edna D. Winters, the young talented pianist, played "The Spinning Song," by Brown, which could not have been excelled. Miss Magnolia N. Lewis sang "Have Faith," by Carew. Miss Lewis has a wonderful contralto voice, full of sweetness. Prof. Charles Elgar, one of the country's great artists and orchestra directors, played White's "Troubled In Mind," which was well received. Attorney William J. Latham was the principal speaker. Dr. I. H. Holloway presided. Rev. Boston J. Prince, the great preacher and pastor, greeted the people and invited them back. Mrs. Juliet Cameron was at the organ.
